Exemption from Lime-washing.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board to day, a letter was read from Mr Ho Tung and 1 to 10 Praya, Mongkok, which had only been limewashed towards the end of reproduction of the battle of Manila Bay, July. The owner said he did not know whether the ten cent, piece, equivalent to five-pence houses were limewashed in July instead of in March and April as the property at those dates did not belong to Mr. Ho Tung. Reward for Philanthropy. Mr Osborne intimated that he was opposed to granting exemption. At the meeting of the Sanitary Board to-day, the question of establishing a quarantico station was again raised. Mr May said I beg to move that this question be considered this days in months. This observation station is going to cost a tremendous amount of mency, no matter where it is put, and if we think we are going to stop plague and other infectious diseases by the erection of the observation station I think we make a great mistake. The only way to rid this Colony of epidemics is to spread out the population and let in the air. If the Government has got any money to spend it ought in my opinion to spend it on reclaiming areas whereon buildings for the working population could be orected. There are plenty of such areas stating us in the face out of these windows, opposite in Kowloon.

MODEL HOUSES FOR CHINESE. MR QRMSBY'S MOTION.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board matter at a cost of $3 or $4 to bring to-day, Mr Ormsby proposed the resolution relative to the erection of model houses for Chinese at Taipingshan.

The subject of improving the tenement house had engaged the attention of architects and engineers in the Colony from time to time. Ie had seen several designs of houses that and been drawn by architects in the Colony which were a vast improvement on the present type, and he had no doubt that if the Government accepted his proposal and offered premiums they should receive a great many designs and plans to select from. He could not but think that the Chinese would appreciate better-designed houses, more fitted for habitation, with at least the necessities for a healthy and clean life made available. The Government now possessed in the resumed area of Tuipingshan land on which houses for their own employes could be erected, but which has been lying idle for a great many years, though it cost the Government nearly $5 per square foot to resume. If they could not find the persons to inhabit the houses they should have to bring a little pressure to bear on the contractors to house their people there at present. They had to pay extraordinarily high rents. In asking the Government to expend money on sanitary buildings he did not contemplate that such expenditure should be incarred without any return, but he did think it would not be unreasonable to ask that the experiment should be tried of creeting some blocks of buildings for housing coolies and Government employes, the rent of which would not exceed 4 per cent. or 5% of the capital expenditure. Original Problems should be accommended by Solution and Analysis. The Hongkong Chess Club meets every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, from four till half-past seven p.m., at the Public Library, 18, Bank Buildings.

> Problem No. 158. By W. A. Shinkman. Black (3 pieces).

And mile next move. Correct Solution from R. A. D.

Hongkong, Oct. 26.

The score in the championship nov stands Pollock 11, Danenberg (holder) so that the third game if won by Danenberg will necessitate a fourth to decide. Two new members have joined the glinb, and we have some hope of a basy winter.

The death is announced of Tassilo von Heydebrand und der Lasa, the 'Nester of German Chess.' He was born on October 17, 1818, and from the age of 20 oawards he never ceased to take an interest in the theory and practice of the game. He was the last survivor of the 'Berliner Siebengestirns'---the cluster of chess stars known in English cliess circles as the Berlin Pleiad -consisting of Von Bilguer, Bledow, Hanstein, Horwitz, Von der Lasa, Mayet, and We live in the city, and he hates country Schorn Bledow was Von der Lasa's chess master, and even as a mere youth Von der Lasa began to become famous he a chess!

His first great service to modern chess? theory was rendered in 1843 by the publication of the Handbuch '-modestly describ- darken with years and polish. You have ed as planned and begun by Von Bilguer, no idea what a perfect tan-those boots will who died in 1840, 'and continued by Von quoting Jim. The Beilin Chess Club was founded in 1827. It has had many distinguished menon its roll of members, but none of greater distinction than Von der Lusa, who its eightieth birthday was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm. Special articles appropriate to the occasion appeared in the 'Schachfreund' and the 'Doutsches Wochenschach.' Bierbach wrote one of these, and in a long appendix gave the titles, with their dates of publication, of Von der Lasa's writings about chess. The list opened with the Handbuch,' and closed with the 'Study and Literature of Chess,' a volume of 270 pages that was published in 1897.

As a practical player, and when at his best, Von der Lasa stood on a footing of equality with the greatest masters of his time. Thus, for example, his score against Staunton, in Staunton's prime, was 5 wins 4 draws to 4 wins 4 draws, and he towored head and shoulders above less distinguished stars. He was famous, also, as being the owner of one of the greatest of the great chess libraries of the world. The catalogue, last printed in 1896, contained more than 2,250 entries, all of books, journals, and articles dealings with chess.

I am indebted for the above account of Baron von Heydebrand u.d. Lasa to the Melbourne Argus. Two of his games are appended-one played with Von Bilguer in 1839, and one played with A. C. Vasquez

The Philosophy of Boots.

Men, like women (writes"a lady from Adeluide), have only two feet, yet, while a woman is content with two pairs of boots and two of shoes, a man will; if he can, keep twelve pairs of boots and seven pairs of shoes. Men have what they call a little dressing-room; in reality it is a boot-room. Mrs Jim and I lately discussed this subject. 'Come and look at Jim's, sho said. In nest Tows there they were-six pairs of black leather, four of tan, three of patent leather. 'These,' she said, pointing to a lovely pair in trees, the has never worn, and can never wear, except perhaps for five minutes in the house.' Why did he get them? I asked (th, all men keep some boots only to look at, she answered. They-buy tight boots, but it is only women who have the courage to wear such things.' I pointed to anotherapparently named pair. They are in case-Jim is walking in very heavy, wet country. excursions, but "you never know," he says, and it's as well to be prepared. The truth is they have a patent sole, and no man can resist the charms of a patent sole when his bootmaker makes it a favour to let him have a specimen. 'The tun are "nfustardy in colour, I suggested. 'Yes, Jim owns that the colour is vile, but he says it will travagance. "I do like that," he answered, and I knew by his tone that he was hurt; "I have worn that pair for months." So said, "Why not wear this other pair?" "Those," he said, with embarrassment,
